The Medicine Label

The little label on a medicine bottle is full of orders: how many, how often, with food or not. Read Ana's label, then say what she has to do.

★ read the label · ★★ say the orders · ★★★ check yourself

★ Read the label

Read Ana's label. Lunaril is not a real medicine: we invented it for practice.

★★ Say the orders

The label gives orders. Say the whole sentence with have to, out loud, then tap to check.

Take 2 tablets → You have to take 2 tablets. 🗣️ twice a day → You have to take it twice a day. 🗣️

with food → You have to take it with food. 🗣️

DO NOT DRIVE → You can't drive after you take it. 🗣️

Remember How Strong Is It? from Class 8: have to is the top of the ladder. A label is not advice — it is an order. And can't means: not allowed.

★★★ Check yourself

Read the label again and type the answers.

1 How many tablets each time?

2 How many times a day?

3 With food or without food?

4 Can Ana drive after she takes it?

5 When does the medicine expire?
